

A poem about the Powhiri by Frank from Myanmar

Behold! The voice is so spiritual;

It's not frightening the people.

Beware the man with a dreadful strange spear;

But, it's not intended to harm anybody.

The scary big voice, an unknown tongue;

It's not rebuking others,

But, the warmest welcome to everyone,

It's so incredible!

I pine for no place in the world any more,

For, this is heaven untold.