

PACIFIC MEDIA WATCH

Twenty-four years of Pacific regional media freedom, ownership, ethics and human rights reports have become a Creative Commons digital depository as part of the new PMC Online website. PMW also provides a daily news outlet for AUT postgraduate students writing on Asia-Pacific media affairs, the environment and social justice. Graduate Sri Krishnamurthi is the PMW contributing editor for 2020.

www.pacmediawatch.aut.ac.nz

HUMAN RIGHTS AND PACIFIC SOCIAL JUSTICE

Peace journalism, human rights, development and domestic violence research have been gaining recognition for social change communication research paradigms in the Asia-Pacific region. Multimedia storytellers Fiji-born Sri Krishnamurthi (right top) and Blessen Tom of India, and West Papua and human rights communication researcher Laurens Ikinia (right) are among the team.

www.youtube.com/user/pacmedcentre

INDEPENDENT PACIFIC NEWS, ANALYSIS AND COMMENTARY

Asia Pacific Report
Edited by AUT's Pacific Media Centre

Asia Pacific Report is a regional "hub" partnership venture between the PMC and Multimedia Investments Ltd (publishers of EveningReport). Students on the postgraduate Asia-Pacific Journalism paper publish their multimedia news portfolio on this site:

www.asiapacificreport.nz

CLIMATE CHANGE AND COVID-19 PACIFIC PROJECT 2020

This project following special Pacific Media Watch coverage during New Zealand's lockdown, was funded by the Earth Journalism Network (EJN) Asia-Pacific initiative and Internews.

www.earthjournalism.net/stories

AUT

PACIFIC MEDIA CENTRE | TE AMOKURA

School of Communication Studies
AUT | Sir Paul Reeves Building, WG1028
Private Bag 92006, Auckland 1142
Aotearoa/New Zealand

Phone: +64 9 921 9388

Email: pmc@aut.ac.nz

pacmedcentre

@pacificmediawatch

@pacmedcentre

PacificMediaCentre

asiapacificreport.nz | www.pmc.aut.ac.nz

AUT

PACIFIC MEDIA
CENTRE

TE AMOKURA

Professor David Robie, Director

PACIFIC MEDIA CENTRE

The Pacific Media Centre is the only media research and resource centre of its kind in Aotearoa/New Zealand and has a strategic focus on Māori, Pasifika, Asia-Pacific, inclusive and diversity media and community development. It is part of the AUT School of Communication Studies.

Pacific Media Centre activities include:

- Pacific Media Watch Nius and digital media freedom project
- Book, journal and research publication
- Asia Pacific Report news and current affairs
- EveningReport, LiveNews, Foreign Affairs, The Daily Blog and Kaniva Tonga websites
- TOKTOK newsletter
- Pacific Journalism Review (PJR) research journal and Pacific Journalism Monographs

Professor David Robie
Director

Del Abcede
PJR designer and TOKTOK newsletter editor

Associate Professor Camille Nakhid
PMC Advisory Board Chair

Khairiah A Rahman
PJR assistant editor

Dr Philip Cass
PJR editor and researcher

Jim Marbrook
Documentaries and Bearing Witness project

PACIFIC JOURNALISM REVIEW: TE KOAKOA

ISSN 1023 9499

Pacific Journalism Review: Te Koakoa, founded at the University of Papua New Guinea in 1994, is a peer-reviewed research journal covering media issues and communication in the South Pacific, Asia-Pacific, Australia and New Zealand. Since 2002, the journal has been published by AUT and the Pacific Media Centre.

In 2010, PJR won a global Creative Industries Award in Beijing.

Companion publication: Pacific Journalism Monographs

More information: ojs.aut.ac.nz/pacific-journalism-review/

Partnerships

- Asia New Zealand Foundation, Wellington
- Asian Congress for Media and Communication Centre (ACMC), Taipei
- Asian Media Information and Communication Centre (AMIC), Manila
- Asia-Pacific Human Rights Coalition (APHRC)
- Earth Journalism Network/ Internews
- EveningReport, LiveNews and Foreign Affairs, Auckland
- International Federation of Journalists (IFJ), Brussels
- Junction Journalism, Melbourne
- Kaniva Tonga, Auckland
- Pasifika Foundation, Hawai'i
- Radio New Zealand Pacific, Wellington
- Reporters Sans Frontières, Paris
- Scoop Media, Wellington
- Taimi Media Network, Nuku'alofa
- Universitas Gadjah Mada, Yogyakarta
- University of Santo Tomas, Manila
- University of the South Pacific, Suva
- Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF)

PACIFIC MEDIA CENTRE PUBLICATIONS

- Science Writing and Climate Change, edited by Crispin C. Maslog, David Robie and Joel Adriano. Asian Institute of Journalism and Communication and AUT Pacific Media Centre (2019). ISBN 978-971-8502-19-8
- Conflict, Culture & Conscience: Photojournalism and the Pacific Media Centre 2007-2017, edited by Jim Marbrook, Del Abcede, Natalie Robertson and David Robie. AUT Pacific Media Centre (2017). ISBN 978-1-927184-45-5
- Watching our Words: Perceptions of self-censorship and media freedom in Fiji, by Ricardo Morris. Pacific Journalism Monographs No. 6. (Series edited by David Robie). Pacific Media Centre, Auckland.
- Pacific Way: Auckland's Pasifika community diaspora media, by Michael Neilson. Pacific Journalism Monographs No 5. (Series edited by David Robie). Pacific Media Centre, Auckland. ISBN 978-1-927184-35-6
- Eyes of Fire: The Last Voyage of the Rainbow Warrior, by David Robie. Little Island Press and the AUT Pacific Media Centre (2015). ISBN 978-1-877314-46-3
- Don't Spoil My Beautiful Face: Media, Mayhem and Human Rights in the Pacific, by David Robie. Little Island Press and the AUT Pacific Media Centre (2014). ISBN 978-1-877484-25-4

