WHY STUDY AT AUT?

Scan this QR code for details about courses, where your study could lead and stories about our graduates and students.

1 AUT's campus in the central business district places you right in the heart of the action 2 You can also study undergraduate business programmes at AUT's South Campus in Manukau 3 We're proud of our future-focused teaching and engaging learning environment 4 The City Campus in Auckland's CBD is home to AUT's business programmes

Think all universities are the same? That's exactly why we built something different – a place where you belong exactly as you are and where your learning connects directly to real-world impact. We don't follow the usual university playbook, because different gets better results. Ready to see how?

Confident in your future

Business doesn't wait – it pivots, reacts, reinvents. At AUT you'll sharpen your thinking, challenge assumptions and adapt fast. You'll pitch ideas, solve real problems and work with actual companies, backed by lecturers who know the real world of business. In our small classes you'll build leadership, collaboration, digital literacy and subject expertise; not just to get ahead, but to make a difference that lasts. You'll graduate from one of the top business schools globally – both EQUIS and AACSB accredited – with experience that counts.

Built for the real world

Most universities teach you to think. We also teach you to do. From day one, your learning connects to real-world application. You won't just study marketing campaigns, you'll create them from real briefs, for real clients. You won't just learn about entrepreneurship; you could launch your own venture as part of your degree. Through workplace experience, you'll step inside organisations and tackle projects that matter; testing your ideas under pressure and proving you can deliver. This isn't just theory. It's your first job, built into your studies.

Go beyond the classroom

Your AUT experience doesn't stop when class ends. Join student clubs like the AUT Investment Club or AUT Accounting Association to build your networks and pitch ideas. Enter competitions that put you in front of industry leaders. Shadow senior business leaders through our Shadow a Leader programme. Get hands-on in our trading room, equipped with real-time financial databases and industry-standard software. These experiences aren't extras – they're how you build the edge employers look for.

Research that shapes tomorrow

Problems that keep businesses up at night? We're working on those. Our research tackles real challenges – from digital transformation and sustainability to leadership and global markets. You'll learn from academics who are actively shaping business thinking, so what you study reflects what's happening now, not just what's in textbooks.

Oranga Taura STUDENT LIFE

We see you. We back you. Your success is our mission. It's care you can feel every day. This is AUT.

You're seen from day one

Orientation isn't really about maps or lecture rooms; it's about connection. This is where you'll meet the people who'll message you notes when you miss class, hype you up before a big presentation and check in when life gets heavy. It's also where you'll prep for academic success, and find out where to get help when you need it and who'll have your back throughout your time here. And that care carries on long after your first week. When you drop into the Student Hub – whether it's on campus or online – you'll find caring staff who remember your face, ask how things are going and genuinely want to help you sort whatever you need sorted.

Find your people

Over 90 clubs covering social, cultural, creative and special interests. Sports teams. Faith communities. Sustainability projects. Whatever your thing is, there's space for it – and if there isn't, start something new. You'll find recreation spaces and gyms where you can train or clear your head, social sports leagues where you can compete with mates, and opportunities to represent AUT through University and Tertiary Sport NZ. You'll find cafés and student lounges to hang out in, and places to grab food between classes. Throughout the year there are cultural festivals, guest speakers, performances and competitions; plenty of chances to get involved, try something different and make things happen.

Communities where you belong

At AUT we celebrate diversity. We're proud to be a Pride Pledge university and we're deeply committed to Te Tiriti o Waitangi. Belonging isn't a slogan. It's real, everyday spaces where you don't have to explain yourself. You'll find Māori and Pacific communities where culture leads the way, rainbow spaces that feel safe and joyful; support built around what disabled, Deaf and neurodivergent students need to thrive; guidance for international students finding their place in Aotearoa, and advocacy that makes sure your voice is heard.

Support that actually shows up

Uni is full of highs, lows and late night panic moments, and you're not expected to push through any of it alone. You'll have academic support that makes tricky assignments feel manageable, library research help when you're stuck, workshops to build your skills, counselling and medical care you can access without stress, practical help when money is tight – including food support and even laptops if you need them – and tech support that keeps your study running smoothly. Whatever you're facing, there's someone here who knows how to make it easier. And you can feel safe while you're here – our campuses are monitored 24/7.

Your future starts now

Employability isn't something you leave until graduation – it's woven through everything you do. You'll get career advice from people who understand your industry and what it's like to move from university to the working world, events where you can meet employers throughout the year, job boards linking you to opportunities, and volunteering and leadership activities, and real-world projects that build your confidence. Whether you're exploring internships, starting your own venture with entrepreneurship support or studying overseas at one of our partner universities, you'll find momentum that carries you into what comes next.

"Outside of my studies, I enjoyed my time in the AUT clubs and societies, attending the Business Career Expo and taking part in the AUT Shadow a Leader programme. All of these made the experience much more enjoyable and set me up for success when leaving university. My advice to students is to really put yourself out there, in terms of networking, clubs, societies, classes and career expos. The person you interact with today might be the connection you need in the future."

Support for business students

We don't leave success to chance. At AUT you'll find services that lift you higher – from planning your degree to building networks and confidence. Email belstudentsuccess@aut.ac.nz and start making every moment of your AUT journey count.

Student support

We've got your back from day one. Our team connects you with everything studying business at AUT offers so you feel part of the community and get the most from your degree. Need course advice? We'll help you plan your study and sort issues anytime throughout your degree. From enrolment and timetables to exams and graduation – and everything in between – we'll help you sort it quickly and confidently.

Visit Level 1, WF building on the City Campus or contact us on +64 9 921 9721 or business@aut.ac.nz

Student success activities

Success doesn't happen by chance. Our team works with students, academics and AUT services to give you practical tools that make a difference. Join activities like academic mentoring, wellbeing workshops, assessment prep tips and tailored one-to-one advice.

Become a peer leader or student mentor

Grow your leadership and make it count. Take on paid or voluntary roles as a peer mentor and build skills that stand out. As a senior student you'll guide new students, share academic advice and help them settle into university life – while adding real impact to your CV.

Māori and Pacific student support

Success is never a solo journey. At AUT you'll find whānau connections, tailored mentoring and support activities that strengthen your academic skills and cultural identity. All Māori students can join Piki Ake Kaipakihi Māori for study skills support. This is complemented by the Tuakana Teina peer tutoring and study skills programme, which offers workshops at the City and South Campuses as well as individual mentoring. Whatever stage you're at, you'll have people and programmes that back your ambitions.

Student representatives

Lead the change, don't just talk about it. Become a student rep and make your voice count. You'll meet academic staff, share feedback and collaborate with peers to shape the student experience. It's your chance to influence decisions, grow leadership skills and raise issues that matter.

1 The business building on AUT's City Campus is located within easy walking distance to cafés, the AUT gym and libraries 2 Our Business Careers Fair is one of many events where you can network with potential employers 3 You'll learn from leading academics at an internationally accredited business school 4 Enjoy some downtime at Te Āhuru Recreation Centre where you can connect with friends and cultivate your interests 5 The trading room houses real-time databases and software giving you hands-on experience 6 Take advantage of AUT's central location – catch up with friends or socialise off campus

"Prior to starting university, I thought I wouldn't have a social life or time for other extracurricular activities. Fortunately, AUT's supportive environment has enabled me to explore other spaces to apply my knowledge and skills, including in student clubs like the AUT Niu Collective, in which I'm the academic officer. I'm also grateful to have been offered a job as a PASS student mentor for other business students, and I'm privileged to be part of the AUT Edge Award. Having exposure to such opportunities has not only built my soft skills but also helped me build friendships."

Bachelor of Business

Overview

Business moves faster than textbooks can keep up. The Bachelor of Business prepares you to match that pace – developing core skills through hands-on projects and live briefs from the start. You'll explore ethical leadership, strategic thinking and creative problem-solving, then put those skills to work during your final-year workplace experience. Small classes mean direct access to academics who balance teaching with industry practice, at a business school recognised globally with dual AACSB and EQUIS accreditation. By graduation, you won't just understand business; you'll already be doing it.

What this qualification covers

The Bachelor of Business is highly flexible and you can build your degree in a way that reflects your interests.

To graduate with a Bachelor of Business you need to complete:

Core courses (120 points)

These are courses all students in this degree need to take. They give you a basic understanding of business processes and practices, and help you decide which subject to focus on later in your studies. One of the core courses is the Capstone course – workplace experience, an applied project or a new business venture – which is the final part of your degree and takes place in your final semester.

Your chosen major (120 points)

Your major is the subject area you want to specialise in. This makes up one third of your degree, and usually consists of eight courses related to your chosen subject. You can view the list of majors in this degree on page 12.

Flexible component (120 points)

You can choose one of the following options:

- Two minors (60 points each); or
- A minor (60 points) and elective courses (60 points); or
- A second major (120 points)

Your second major, minor(s) and elective courses can be from business or from different AUT degrees.

"I thoroughly enjoyed my time at AUT and, to this day, still feel connected to the university, my teachers and my peers. I liked that the business school at AUT has smaller classes, allowing students to build meaningful relationships with tutors and peers, and making you feel like more than just a number. The coursework involved both individual and team projects, which closely mirrored real-world scenarios. The work experience and the strategic marketing capstone project in my final year at AUT were the highlights of my business degree; they gave me invaluable, hands-on insight into what day-to-day life in marketing looks like and integrated the various components I had learnt throughout my time at university."

Majors

Choose one of these majors as part of your degree:

- Accounting
- Economics
- Finance
- Human Resource Management and Employment Relations
- Information Systems
- International Business and Strategy
- Management and Leadership
- Marketing

Refer to pages 14 to 21 for more details on each of these majors.

If you want to include a second major in your degree, you can choose another subject from the list above or can see more options from different AUT degrees on aut.ac.nz/majors-minors

Minors

A minor is smaller than a major. It usually consists of four courses. If you decide to include a minor in your degree, you could choose from:

- Accounting
- Business Law
- Data Analytics for Business
- Economics
- Entrepreneurship and Innovation
- Finance
- Human Resource Management and Employment Relations
- Information Systems
- International Business and Strategy
- Management and Leadership
- Marketing
- Supply Chain Management
- Sustainable Enterprise

For more information on each of these minors and to see even more minors from other subjects visit aut.ac.nz/majors-minors

Minors are subject to change. For the latest information visit aut.ac.nz/majors-minors

Build your degree on our website

Visit our website to build your own degree and see what your three years of study could look like. Simply scan the QR code on page 11.

Possible examples of combinations include:

- Bachelor of Business in Marketing with minors in Sustainable Enterprise and Event Management (one major, two minors)
- Bachelor of Business in Economics with a minor in Supply Chain Management (one major, one minor, plus elective courses of your choice)
- Bachelor of Business in Accounting and Finance (two majors)

Workplace experience

Your final semester is where you put everything into practice. As a Bachelor of Business student, you'll step into a real organisation and apply what you've learnt, backed by feedback from your lecturers to sharpen your performance. Employers value the fresh ideas and latest thinking you bring, and for many students this experience leads to a permanent role.

Co-operative Education – Capstone Experience

A supervised work placement with an organisation in New Zealand or overseas isn't just experience – it's real responsibility. You'll take on business challenges that matter, contribute to projects with visible outcomes and show employers what you can do. Throughout the placement, you'll have two mentors: a workplace supervisor and an AUT academic. They'll guide, challenge and support you so you leave with more than experience; you leave with confidence, connections and results that count.

These are some of the companies our students have completed their placements in:

- Air New Zealand
- ASB Bank Ltd
- Auckland Council
- Auckland Transport
- Blues Rugby
- Deloitte
- EY
- Foodstuffs North Island Ltd

- KPMG
- Mainfreight Ltd
- Ministry of Social Development
- Nestle NZ Ltd
- New Zealand Media & Entertainment (NZME)
- One New Zealand
- Port of Auckland Ltd
- PwC
- Sustainable Business Network
- Te Whatu Ora – Health New Zealand
- The Warehouse Group
- Westpac
- World Vision NZ

Capstone Project

Prefer research? The Capstone Project is an alternative to Co-operative Education. You'll investigate industry issues or future-focused challenges, working alongside an academic supervisor every step. This isn't just about theory; you'll apply advanced research skills to deliver insights organisations can use. It's experience that sharpens your thinking and gives you a strong foundation for postgraduate study.

Recent projects have included:

- Readability of KiwiSaver disclosure statements
- Accountability through social media for NFPs
- Tax incentives for private health insurers
- Engaging consumers through social media

"One of the highlights at AUT, was the workplace experience in the business degree. I was able to gain invaluable first-hand experience working in a corporate marketing role, which significantly contributed to my ability to secure a graduate role straight after I graduated. I gained deeper insights into corporate culture and processes and was lucky to gain invaluable mentorship and guidance that equipped me with practical marketing and analytical skills I continue to implement today. My other highlight was the importance AUT put on collaboration in our workshops. This encouraged the collaboration of ideas, perspectives and networking to collectively strengthen our subject knowledge."

Bachelor of Business Accounting

Scan this QR code for details about courses, where your study could lead and stories about our graduates and students.

Think accounting is just numbers? Not here. It's a dynamic career that turns analysis into influence and shapes decisions across business, government and not-for-profits. You'll need more than technical skills – this major builds sharp thinking, clear communication and the confidence to make complex ideas simple for people outside finance. But here's what makes it real: you'll work with actual financial data, solve problems organisations are facing now and learn from lecturers who still practise what they teach. And because technology never stands still, you'll graduate fluent in the tools and systems driving modern business, ready to lead conversations.

What this major covers

Semester 1 is the same for everyone – core courses that give you a solid understanding of business processes and practices, and help you decide which subject to focus on later in your studies. In Semester 2 you'll focus on accounting essentials, learning procedures and systems to collect information, and start courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 2

Now you go deeper – international regulations, financial and management accounting, auditing and taxation. You'll see how accounting drives decisions and keeps organisations moving. You'll also balance this with courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 3

This is where theory meets reality. In your first semester you finish the last courses for your major(s), minor(s) or electives. Then it's workplace experience – you'll choose an organisation, launch your own venture or tackle an applied project that proves what you can do. Recent placements included ANZ Bank, Auckland Council, Audit New Zealand, Deloitte, EY, KPMG, One NZ and Westpac Bank.

Professional accreditation and affiliations

Get a head start on your professional accounting qualification. Our Bachelor of Business in Accounting is recognised by major local and international professional accounting associations:

- Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand (CA ANZ)
- Certified Practising Accountants Australia (CPA Australia)
- Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA)
- Chartered Institute of Management Accountants (CIMA)

Career opportunities

- Chartered accountant
- Chief financial officer
- Corporate accountant
- Auditor
- Management accountant
- Taxation consultant

"AUT stood out to me not just for the quality of the programme, but for its practical approach to learning. The workplace experience in my business degree really caught my attention. It wasn't just about theories in a classroom; it was about applying knowledge in real workplaces, gaining hands-on experience and understanding how accounting works in the real world. That opportunity to bridge study with experience was something I knew would give me an edge. What made it even better was the connection I had with my lecturers. They knew me by name, and this made me feel welcome and valued as a student. The sense of belonging and support at AUT made all the difference and truly enhanced my learning experience. Beyond the classroom, AUT offered a vibrant student life filled with clubs and activities."

Bachelor of Business Economics

Scan this QR code for details about courses, where your study could lead and stories about our graduates and students.

Economics isn't just theory – it's the lens that explains why things happen and how to change them. This major gives you the tools to analyse, predict and influence decisions. You'll explore microeconomics, macroeconomics and econometrics, learning how these ideas tackle issues like poverty, unemployment, climate change and inequality. But you won't just study models in textbooks. You'll apply economic thinking to real policy problems and see how decisions ripple through communities. By the time you graduate, you won't just understand how economies work; you'll know how to make them work better.

Semester 1 is the same for everyone – core courses that give you a solid understanding of business processes and practices, and help you decide which subject to focus on later in your studies. In Semester 2 you'll explore the fundamentals of microeconomics and macroeconomics, and start courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 2

Time to tackle the complexities that shape our world. You'll apply economic theory to real issues faced by consumers, businesses and governments – microeconomics, macroeconomics and econometrics in action. You'll balance this with courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 3

Your final year is all about proving it. In your first semester you finish the last courses for your major(s), minor(s) or electives. Then it's workplace experience – you'll choose an organisation, launch your own venture or complete an applied project that shows what you can do. Recent placements included Auckland Council, ASB, Goldman Sachs, KPMG, Spark, The Warehouse Group and One NZ.

Career opportunities

- Acquisition manager
- Business risk auditor
- Financial markets analyst
- Investment banker
- Researcher
- Strategic planner, analyst or policy advisor

"What I loved most about studying economics at AUT were the opportunities to experience life as an economist while I was still at university. I've always wanted to ensure that the work I did in my career helps make New Zealanders better off, so now getting to come to work and strive for that goal every day is an absolute privilege. I get to say that I'm a part of something that is really making a difference for New Zealanders. Another thing I really enjoy about my job is that the work is challenging and gives you constant opportunities to learn new things and grow."

Finance isn't just about money – it's about momentum. It drives growth, creates jobs and powers innovation. This major teaches you how individuals and organisations raise, invest and manage funds to make things happen. You'll learn to analyse markets, build portfolios and guide big decisions; from advising everyday investors to helping companies list on stock exchanges. You'll work with real market data, get hands on in our trading room and learn from lecturers who've managed portfolios. And because AUT is part of the CFA Institute University Affiliation Program, your degree is based on the CFA Program curriculum and you'll graduate ready to pursue the globally respected Chartered Financial Analyst designation.

"Coming from a rural background, I knew that knowledge of investments and personal finance can be a struggle for regular Kiwis, so it was clear to me that this was a worthwhile pursuit. I chose to study at AUT because of the structure of the business degree and because the courses offered a direct path into the fields I wanted to gain exposure to. Helping to run events while I was a part of the AUT Investment Club was a highlight and I met friends for life. My job now involves research on equities and fixed interest investments, among others. I perform regular performance reporting tasks and work with the Chief Investment Officer to produce communications and market commentary."

Workplaces don't run on policies – they run on people. This major teaches you how to make that power count, from recruitment and negotiation to diversity, wellbeing and legal compliance. If you want to influence culture, solve problems and lead change, you'll learn how to do it here. But this isn't theoretical HR. You'll work on real workplace challenges, navigate actual employment disputes and learn from professionals who've transformed organisations. You'll understand both sides – what employers need and what employees deserve. By the time you graduate, you won't just understand HR – you'll know how to create workplaces where people thrive.

Semester 1 is the same for everyone – core courses that give you a solid understanding of business processes and practices, and help you decide which subject to focus on later in your studies. In Semester 2 you'll explore the fundamentals of human resource management and employment relations, and start courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 2

Here's where complexity gets interesting – employment issues, organisational behaviour and the relationships between employees, employers, government and trade unions. Your courses also cover diversity and inclusion, health and safety, and learning and development. You'll also balance this with courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 3

Time to make real impact. In your first semester you complete the last courses for your major(s), minor(s) or electives. Then workplace experience puts you where decisions matter – choose an organisation, launch your own venture or complete an applied project. Recent placements included DB Breweries, Farmers Trading Company, Fletcher Construction, Nestlé NZ Ltd, Progressive Enterprises, SKY TV, Waitemata District Health Board and Warehouse Stationery.

Career opportunities

- Employment relations specialist
- Human resource manager
- Industry training advisor
- Recruitment consultant
- Talent manager
- Health and safety manager

"Business studies was my favourite subject in school. I was most interested in human resource management and employment relations as I wanted to learn the ins and outs of how a workplace operates. HR is such a diverse industry with different opportunities and areas to go into. One of the main reasons I chose AUT was the opportunity to complete workplace experience in the final year of the degree. This is a great way to test if what you've chosen to study is where you want to be, but also provides you with experience in your chosen field before going into the workforce after graduating."

Bachelor of Business Information Systems

Scan this QR code for details about courses, where your study could lead and stories about our graduates and students.

Technology drives business, and this major puts you in control. You'll learn how to design, manage and optimise the systems organisations rely on, bridging the gap between tech and people. From data management and cybersecurity to project leadership, you'll graduate ready to turn digital disruption into opportunity. But you won't just read about systems – you'll work with real databases, tackle actual security challenges, and understand why projects fail and how to make them succeed. Because in a world where tech never stops, neither should you.

Semester 1 is the same for everyone – core courses that give you a solid understanding of business processes and practices, and help you decide which subject to focus on later in your studies. In Semester 2 you'll explore the fundamentals of information systems and their importance to organisations of all sizes, and start courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 2

Dive into the systems that keep businesses moving – analysing and modelling processes, designing and implementing databases, and managing projects. Your courses also cover data management, cybersecurity and risk management. You'll balance this with courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

Your last year is all about application. In your first semester you finish the last courses for your major(s), minor(s) or electives. Then workplace experience tests your skills for real – you'll choose an organisation, launch your own venture or complete an applied project that proves what you can do. Recent placements included Bridgestone NZ, LG Electrics NZ, Mainfreight, Open Systems Specialists, Optimation New Zealand, Quantum Solutions NZ Ltd, Sovereign and One NZ.

"A business degree at AUT wasn't just by choice, but by feeling. My values of diversity and inclusion aligned with AUT's passion for driving such initiatives and, after watching my mum walk across a supportive stage where minorities were appreciated, I knew that AUT was for me. It was a plus that my love for technology was included in the business degree at AUT as well. My Bachelor of Business opened up several creative outlets for me. I was an entrepreneur in my marketing class and then an 'ethical hacker' in my cybersecurity class. I had wanted a degree that did it all, and that was this degree."

Bachelor of Business International Business and Strategy

Scan this QR code for details about courses, where your study could lead and stories about our graduates and students.

Global business isn't just big – it's fast, complex and constantly changing. This major teaches you how to navigate disruption, diversity and innovation to create strategies that work across borders. You'll learn to analyse global issues, manage cultural differences and lead in environments where adaptability is everything. But this goes beyond case studies. You'll engage with actual global companies and learn from lecturers who've navigated these complexities themselves. You'll understand why some companies conquer new markets while others fail at the border. By the time you graduate, you'll be ready to turn global challenges into opportunities.

Semester 1 is the same for everyone – core courses that give you a solid understanding of business processes and practices, and help you decide which subject to focus on later in your studies. In Semester 2 you'll explore the fundamentals of international business, and start courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 2

Step into the global conversation – trade policies, internationalisation strategies, strategic planning and analytics. You'll analyse global issues from diverse perspectives and tackle disruption and innovation head-on. You'll balance this with courses from your second major, minor(s) or electives.

YEAR 3

Your final year is about impact on a global scale. In your first semester you finish the last courses for your major(s), minor(s) or electives. Then it's time for workplace experience – choose an organisation (even overseas), work on a strategic consulting project or complete an applied project to prepare for postgraduate study. Recent placements included Grant Thornton, ATS Pacific Fiji, Chrisco Hampers (Sydney, Australia), the Consulate of Saudi Arabia in Spain and the New Zealand Customs Service.

- Management consultant or business analyst
- Working with government agencies, councils or industry associations
- National or regional trade development advisor
- Regional marketing manager

"I loved how close-knit the classes were – you'd regularly have the same lecturers and classmates throughout your study. The lecturers would never let you be just one of the numbers and you could build some very meaningful relationships with staff members. If you've got an interest in something, your lecturers will go out of their way to foster that interest, and it can open doors that you never thought could open. For example, I contacted my lecturers to ask whether I could explore cryptocurrency as a research topic. Throughout this project, I developed a strong interest in capital markets, fintech and high-frequency trading, and how activity in those areas frequently clashed with the law. After this project, I applied for and was hired by NZX, which kicked off my career in capital markets."

Bachelor of Business Management and Leadership

Scan this QR code for details about courses, where your study could lead and stories about our graduates and students.

Management isn't about maintaining the status quo – it's about leading change. This major teaches you how to motivate people, manage complexity and make decisions that matter. You'll learn to balance profitability with sustainability, innovation with ethics, and strategy with people – because leadership today demands more than a title, it demands vision. But you won't just study leadership theories. You'll lead actual project teams, tackle real organisational challenges and learn from leaders who've transformed businesses. You'll understand why some changes stick while others fail, and how to be the leader people choose to follow.

"I chose the AUT business degree as it has a strong focus on intertwining sustainability into all aspects of the programme. It takes into consideration the changing landscapes for business as climate change becomes a more pressing issue. Learning things that will help me create change was just so cool. I particularly loved having guest lecturers who shared their success stories and failures. Many of my lecturers were also highly involved in public and private sector sustainability work. I loved hearing from people who are enacting positive change. It was encouraging and inspiring, and helped us visualise where we could one day be. AUT makes you feel valued. Through a range of support services, dedicated staff and amazing opportunities, there's a whole community behind you who want to see you succeed."

Bachelor of Business Marketing

Scan this QR code for details about courses, where your study could lead and stories about our graduates and students.

Marketing isn't just about selling – it's about shaping what people want next. In a world of omni-channel experiences, you'll learn to anticipate trends, understand consumers and create strategies that cut through. From social media to integrated campaigns, this major gives you the tools to turn insight into impact. But here's where it gets real: you'll work on marketing campaign briefs and learn from marketers who've launched brands you know. You'll understand why some campaigns go viral while others disappear, and how to create marketing that matters.

"One of the biggest highlights was definitely the workplace experience in my final year. I was a marketing assistant intern for AUT International, where I started to gain experience in the international education industry. It gave me the opportunity to work with a real company and apply everything I'd learnt in a practical setting. I also really enjoyed the collaborative projects throughout the degree – it was a great way to meet new people, learn to work in teams and build confidence. During my final year, I also completed my research project with a successful new product launch campaign proposal; Edible Straws. My team received first place for the best overall product among all marketing students. The project culminated in a formal presentation at the marketing department's end-of-semester event."

"I chose AUT because of the diversity that is evident in the university's activities as well as the gateways they provide to students. AUT has always been a place where students can walk in feeling welcomed and becoming part of a culture that strives for success. AUT has a great track record of preparing students for their future, and the opportunities given to students are evident in the success of past students. I felt that I needed an introduction to business, and the diploma gave me a great foundation to then transition into the second year of the Bachelor of Business. I'd recommend this programme to others – it will give you an understanding of basic economic principles and helps you build skills to create opportunities for your future."

or 0800 AUT AUT (0800 288 288).

Student loans and allowances¹

If you're a full-time domestic student, you may qualify for a student loan or allowance. Student loans and allowances are administered and paid by StudyLink. The application process can take some time, so it's a good idea to apply early. You can apply for a student loan or student allowance before your enrolment at AUT is complete.

To find out more call 0800 88 99 00
or visit studylink.govt.nz

Free fees for your university study¹

If you're a domestic student, you might be able to get your final year of full-time study fees-free. To check if you're eligible for fees-free study visit aut.ac.nz/fees

1. Domestic students only, not available to international students.

Financial assistance

We know life doesn't always go to plan and money worries can make study feel tough. That's why we're here with practical help – from grocery or fuel vouchers to support with those unexpected bills.

StudyLink

Visit studylink.govt.nz for tools, tips and information to help you plan and understand the costs you will have while studying.

Scholarships and awards

Scholarships can cover anything from accommodation costs to full tuition – and they're worth applying for. AUT offers scholarships at every stage of study, including ones specifically for school leavers. Some reward academic achievement, others recognise leadership, cultural contribution, community involvement or sport. Don't assume they're not for you.

For the full list of what's available, application forms and closing dates visit aut.ac.nz/scholarships

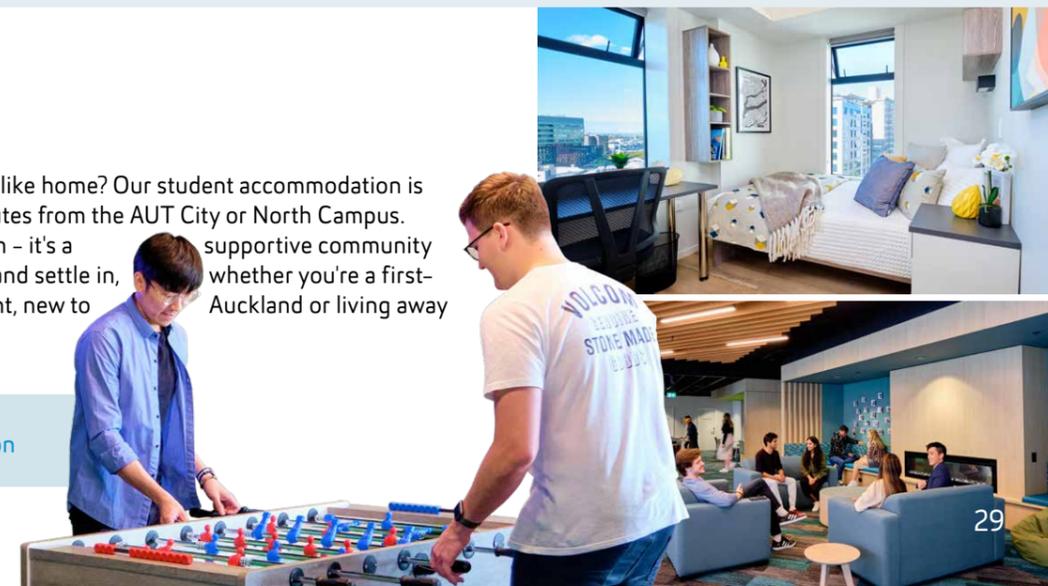

Tips for applying

- Start early – deadlines can be months ahead
- Apply for more than one – cast your net wide
- Check you meet the requirements first
- Get someone to review your application
- Tell your story – show who you are, not just your grades

Accommodation

Looking for a place that feels like home? Our student accommodation is modern, secure and just minutes from the AUT City or North Campus. It's so much more than a room – it's a supportive community where you can make friends and settle in, whether you're a first-year or a postgraduate student, new to Auckland or living away from home for the first time.
